Alien. The end of the world will not happen.

2002

ALIEN

He was an alien because he saw himself as if from the outside. He perceived his eyes as a reflection of the entire external world, and his soul shimmered with the light of a distant reality, which was infinity - his infinite future. He saw in this reality people like him. Therefore, when he met people, he understood that they were no different from him, and he was no different from them. Walking his way, he carried his inner light towards himself and others at the same time. He distributed it in such a way that others did not perceive it as a distribution, they perceived it as his action. And he, seeing their eyes wide open, seeing their amazed thoughts at his actions and movements, believed that they were made the same way and they must be the same, apparently, if he was the way he perceived himself.

Having seen the first girl, he thought that life exists in distant worlds because he is a man. And having seen himself in relation to the girl, he understood that love is originally in him, and he will go to her and see her in the form of a woman - the one who is his other half.

Walking through his life, seeing the changing structures of rivers, seeing what was happening to plants, animals, and seeing the life of man, he understood that everything had to be changed for eternity. And this understanding of his was not a word or a thought - it was the movement of his body. It was the body that moved in the direction of eternity, and only later did he begin to perceive this movement as the lives of other people. He understood - they, too, consist of eternity. They are not even particles of eternity, they are eternity itself, but only scattered across the planet and directed into the infinity of space. Their gazes, directed at other planets and other galaxies of stars, into all of open space, beyond the sun and even inside the sun, said that they are who they consider themselves to be, but not everyone realizes this. And his movement was directed to the side - to open up space for them, so that they could see where their life is, that they came from space and felt their soul, spread into space, as the unity of the whole and the uniqueness of the one. Seeing what everyone sees, he spoke about what everyone thinks about in the depths of their souls, but at first he spoke mentally only to himself. Then he began to speak to many, and people followed him. They began to believe him, many entrusted him with their innermost secrets, aimed at eternal development.

And many said to him: yes, we see our eternal life, but tell us how to convey this to others. And he told them, he gave them numbers, he gave them the life that they themselves saw, and at the same time he did not name himself. He went forward, leaving only a name, clothed in a date of birth. They were the same. Their movement was not always uniform. They had to overcome resistance, but those distant worlds, their echoes, which were already, perhaps, developed to the level of eternity in its stable realized phase, led them all, as a united cohort, to their endless future.

And this wave of infinity overwhelmed everyone, when joy manifested itself even in the most difficult situations in human understanding. They tried to exalt him, but he always walked with them. Because their path is one, and heaven and earth and everything that surrounds them is a creation, including their mind. He taught to create, to create and to be eternity. For only that eternity is reborn and strives to be itself, which realizes what happens inside this eternity, and has the property of eternity at all levels. His individual movements, as well as the movements of all people local, expressed in some specific emotions and actions, are united by one deep structure of the soul of eternity. Eternity, which has a soul, the personification of humanity, itself is essentially a formative image and level of infinity. There, where God created it, he manifested himself, and this manifestation already exists, exists forever in the beauty of nature, in dreams of the future endless life. And now, seeing that he has knowledge of eternity, being here and acting, they followed him more unitedly. No opposition of systems, of these or those qualities could break them.

They grew stronger, gained strength of spirit and felt that they were not alone in this universe, that there was a spirit that would reveal to them those worlds that would warm their souls in distant wanderings to explore outer space. And they were glad that they were created. They were glad for God, who was able to create such a thing, and they walked with God in their souls. They were deified, and their movement no longer knew any obstacles. Yes, there were some nuances, some resistance and, as it were, failures on the part of those who had not yet walked this path. But those who walked, they no longer saw failures.

They saw only movement. It is like a high-speed car that is picking up speed, and the sound of the wind already captures the soul and spirit of a person, and his body rushes with the speed of the car, and everything else is no longer perceived as something that can hinder the car, that can hinder this movement. A person begins to feel himself moving. And this movement, clothed in thought, forms of thought - these movements became the shell that made these people unapproachable. Unapproachable so as to knock them off the path of eternity. Unapproachable so as to prevent their thoughts from moving in this direction.

They were all and are like all ordinary people, and this entails the following people. In time, when everyone will be united and will be able to live forever, all that will remain is to simply recall the processes that led to this. And it is precisely their memory, precisely their recollections of the human spirit that accomplished much, including the incredible from the point of view of the ordinary mind. Their memories gave them strength, their memory and their culture moved them into infinity. And infinity opened up before them. They saw those, in essence, paradise gardens, which they perceived with their physical body. They were alive, but what opened up before them was what is called eternal life in paradise in a physical body.

And they understood that on earth this has already been accomplished for many who perceive the beauty of nature, who see how the sound of leaves brings back memories of past and all future events, because they see ahead. They know all the events of the future, and this can be called the memory of the fact that they have already accomplished their eternities in the future. And eternity washed over all of them who walked this path. And they were saved forever.

THERE WILL BE NO END OF THE WORLD

The truth of salvation is within the essence of each of us. We choose the path that we ourselves determine. For the path that we determine is our path. And for salvation we move in the direction where there is the light of our and external consciousness. External salvation is also internal salvation. We unite everything around us with our love, and when the surrounding world sees this love, the world becomes unconditionally saved.

Therefore, the first way of salvation is love. And any conversations, any information, any information about the end of the world should be directed to the fact that there is no end of the world, because the light is infinite and life is infinite, the development of the earth, the entire universe, the world is infinite. The very essence of the infinite gives birth to the eternity of the world, the eternity of the living and the eternity of everyone's life.

The life of each is clothed with eternity where he often does not suspect, where he comes into contact with it at the moment of birth. Consider the case of birth that you know, and you will see that before birth there is contact of eternity with the moment of birth, the very first act, which was the event source of birth. This action, this first act of life, which appeared initially from the first birth in the world, it initially carries in itself the eternity of eternal life, for eternity itself is divided into a fact before its awareness and after its awareness. And this transition between the level of awareness and the level after awareness, it is the movement of life in cognition.

When eternity is already known, that is, when it is already realized, there can be no end of the world, since light is the internal content that a person perceives. Light is the area of perception that is essentially clothed in a certain living reality, and a person reacts to it as to a messenger of infinity, infinite worlds. And any image is what consists of light. Therefore, first of all, the salvation system should be directed to the awareness of what is happening around. Any systems of the external world are considered stable when we look as if through them.

That is, the walker perceives the environment in such a way that the environment is outside, and this external reality is an element of eternity. In order that the eternal development is not slowed down by any information about the end of the world, try to consider the volumes of eternity in the entire external world, when you see the movements of the surrounding systems, the surrounding world. Spreading your physical movement in the physical world, try to see the sphere of eternity, which has its beginning from you to the nearest object and is spread infinitely upward. When you look upward infinitely, you see the light coming to your consciousness and being your consciousness.

Consider the closed system consciousness-world, and you will see that everything is under the control of your consciousness. Therefore, the change of the world on a universal scale - what is called the end of the world, cannot happen, because what is seen once has an eternal structure, filling the whole world.
It follows that your hands, your feet, your body and your thinking and all the cells of your organism - they are focused on one task of eternal life. The vector of concentration, it exists absolutely, because it is in love and has elements of love in its constituents. That is, it is indestructible. Therefore, no external events can prevent the development of the vector of love of this area of information.

When you begin to consider eternity as a phenomenon perceived by the entire organism, by your entire essence, then you see that your individual tissues are already eternal. And if you consider the entire organism from them, you see that it is eternal. Therefore, you need to move in considering the entire reality from your consciousness, namely from those elements that you perceive as the eternity of the organism.

At the level of consciousness, these are individual tissues of the body, for example, on the arms, on the legs, other parts of the body, which emit a silvery glow towards eternity, generalized for all. So the collision of your light, the light from your organism of your actual body with eternity for all - this is the earth itself, which has eternal development.

What a person is on, that is, on the earth, for example, or on any other object outside the earth, all these systems are united at the level of your consciousness by the desire for eternal life. The fact is that initially a person is born from the desire for eternal life. To understand this point, consider the entire phase of infinity that exists before birth, before the conception of a person, and the entire phase that is after.

And it turns out that only a very strong desire for life leads to a person being born. From the point of view of the logic of consciousness of the development of logical processes of the world, this is absolutely clear. It is the same as overcoming a huge amount of information, doing a huge amount of internal work in order to realize oneself in the physical and be born. Therefore, the one being born always overcomes exactly the same element of work, exactly the same internal system of movement towards eternity, as the living one who wants to live forever. Considering that there is a fact of the birth of this person, one can understand that the person has already overcome this - that certain gap in the system of information before and after the birth of the person.

This is an act of spiritual overcoming by the human personality of all obstacles to being born and being in a physical body. Considering consciousness as an inseparable system of communication throughout the world, one can discover this element of consciousness in oneself. It can be considered at the level of the hypothalamus of the human brain, at the level of the pituitary gland and at the level of tissue, for example, arms and legs.

That is, even if we consider the growth of a fingernail, here we can see the same type of motivating principles of development towards eternity. And it is the primary spiritual component that led the personality towards eternity, it moves in the same way in all tissues of the body towards eternity. That is, all movement occurs towards eternal development.

Therefore, it becomes quite obvious here that the body itself is oriented towards eternal development. If we pay attention to many cases of people surviving in extreme conditions, then there are often no logical explanations, but it is the action of this impulse of the body's movement towards eternity that transforms the situation in such a way that a person becomes inaccessible and not subject to any influence.

Thus, it becomes clear here that the mechanism of indestructibility is initially embedded in a person. And this in this case is visible only by comparing the information before the birth of a person and after his primary manifestation in the physical world, after the act of conception of a person, physical conception. Having examined these structures of consciousness, it is possible, as said, to single out those elements of consciousness that have a continuous connection even before the moment of birth, where the mechanisms that are explained as volitional mechanisms - they are manifested as unconditional mechanisms. That is, the desire for eternal life is not just a logical desire, it is an expression of the entire essence of a person, coming from the one God - the Creator, who is eternal, and thus - this is his will. The eternity of a person is the will of God and the organizing structure of a person.

In this regard, it is possible to consider quite a lot of information structures, thought processes that lead not only to a complete and sufficiently detailed understanding of the process of eternal development, but also allow one to independently develop technologies of eternal development in the practice of everyday life.

Thus, in the practice of any everyday action we can see that, for example, the movement of the hand entails the light of eternity, and stopping the movement when you do something allows you to see that this light begins to spread from the hand. As well as from the whole body. In this regard, the light of eternity has a structure such that a person reproduces this light.

And the more the action of this light spreads into external reality, the more mechanisms of eternal development a person acquires. When at the level of thinking you will see that your thought begins to realize such a light of eternity, then you will also learn to increase the volume of emitted light of eternity into external reality, and for this you only need to direct your thoughts towards eternity, towards technologies of eternal development.

And it will turn out that your action will begin to give a picture of future development, which is already coming from you, from your light into eternity. So you pave a certain road for yourself, along which you yourself are walking.

You yourself are the designer of light in eternity and the road of eternity. And this is evident in this case from the fact that the more you radiate such light, the more reliable and stable your movement in the direction of eternity and eternal development. Your eternal life should not depend on any information that concerns either the particular case of a specific person from the point of view of the destruction of his life structures, or all of humanity as a whole.

Initially, these are unified systems of reality, because both all of humanity and man are entire worlds, unique, inviolable, which must develop eternally. And in this regard, if we are talking about the end of the world, in terms of the physical destruction of the world of habitation, like, for example, the planet where people are, then, first of all, it is necessary to concentrate the spiritual efforts of man himself in accordance with the principle of reflecting from himself such information systems that carry information about the end of the world, and then move on to reflecting from the entire planet and from the entire world as a whole.

Therefore, work through saving everyone in this case is carried out through your own movement, when you see the structure of eternal development of yourself, your light of eternity, which is reproduced by your thinking. And when you find this area of information, you understand that this is a very strong mechanism for developing technologies of eternity using your own thinking. Exclusively your own thinking is one mechanism, and thinking associated with elements of external and internal reality is the second mechanism. When you use the mechanism of only your own thinking, then here you need, first of all, to consider what in thinking itself has a certain prolongation within the organism and is conically distributed throughout the organism in such a way that the top of the cone is higher above the head.

And then, according to the principle of increase at a certain point, the cone-shaped image of perception begins to expand in all directions, and so quickly that it captures the person as a whole already through external events. That is, the structure of eternity also determines those events that occur around you and in such a way that you can fully learn to live forever on events. This is comparable to the fact that if a person is given a piano, then after a certain time he can learn to play.

Even if he simply touched the keys with his fingers, then we can already say that he is already using this piano. The same is true in the structure of eternity - just moving into the structure of eternity is already a contact and application of the methodology of realizing eternity. And the filigree mastery of any musical systems with the help of the same piano or other instruments, or perhaps with the help of an artist's brush, or through one's word, through one's action - this is already that technical practice, which is given to people so that they master the system of eternal life, the signs of eternal life, the content of eternal life in their development, in their aspirations.

Moreover, in any aspirations, such as going to a cafe and drinking a cup of coffee, there may be a very serious element of eternal development, because simple actions also carry eternity, and this too must be noticed.

Every moment of life, every instant carries a very strong element of mastering the structures of eternal development. When you begin to see this, you can master the mechanisms of this development, and this development will certainly save you from any catastrophes, from any cataclysms and from any problems of internal and external content. Therefore, it is imperative to save yourself.

The structure of eternity, which is in the consciousness of a person, is located in such a way in the system of information, in the system of information connections, that when a person sees that by his own willpower he can solve certain issues of a tactical near level and, often, strategic level, then he becomes confident that everyone will be saved in the same way.

This corresponds to two levels of consciousness, which are perceived as light coming from the right and left hemispheres of the brain. And light, it is considered in such a way that the first impulse coming from the brain gradually increases, gradually due to the glow of the entire body, and we see that the image of a person is indestructible.

When we see this, we understand that what is happening now is the manifestation of eternity, the realization that a person living and moving now is a person living forever. This is an important realization in terms of strategies for the future development of both man, civilization and humanity as a whole.

Seeing your infinitely strong level, aimed at infinite development, you consider, first of all, the constructions of future development systems. Considering, for example, how cities were built, how some settlements, villages, in general, points and places of residence of people were built, from the point of view of perception by those people who built all this, you can see that here the element of eternity was laid.

That is, if we divide the earth into a natural system and artificially recreated structures, then under the structures that were artificially reproduced, there is an element of eternity related to human thinking. This is an important component that makes it possible to understand that all external systems of the world - they also transform information in a certain way so that a person can reproduce a certain reality for his future development.

And when you consider this connection in logic, it is clear that a person takes into account the presence of air, the presence of seas, oceans, land and in accordance with this carries out construction and plus the presence of outer space, for example. When the logical phase of this understanding intersects with the task of eternal development at the level of already created objects, then it is possible to trace the connection from all elements of external reality, how they influenced a specific person, that a specific element of eternity was reproduced somewhere.

And this element in the system of general connections has also infinite development, just like a specific person. Because what is created by labor, the creation of something by a person, even the first movement, the first thoughts, in general the creation of something primary itself, even conception - this is what gives birth to eternity and creates eternity both by the person himself and by the people around him, by the entire external and informational reality, by the internal understanding of a person. The manifested integrity forms the physical body of a person, the very structures of the external world, the bodies of animals, vegetation, and so on.

The inner harmony that is felt and seen at the level of understanding the world, which is not reflected in words, is such an element that is not reflected in words. Understanding always comes into contact with the infinity of the following events and from here it is clear that everything is eternal. Eternity is seen quite clearly, but it is often not stipulated, it is often not perceived at the level of consciousness as something separate from the word itself. That is, the word itself and any action in general - it is not separated from eternity.

Therefore, if we ask ourselves: how can we talk about something using the same thing? Then we can give an example here – how can we talk about sound using sound? For this, someone needs to perceive the sound. And then this is, as one of the speculative examples, when another person is already an element of the fact that the system has closed, that everything has been realized, that the sound has coincided with the message about it.

And this news, one might say, informational positive, the news that eternity exists, manifests itself only in the actions of a person, in his inner confidence in eternal life. From here it is quite possible to single out the component that is characterized as a collective component, a socialized one, formed by the fact that people realize that there will be no end of the world, no end of the world, no end of physical and spiritual development. There will be no end to the development of the planet and each individual person in the long term. Since there are at least two people who already live on this planet, the planet will develop infinitely. And this unification of the two, who transmits the signal and who receives it, already creates the reality of the Creator.

The Creator – God is united in that he can both create a signal and receive it in one person. For the earth – this is already an action from two people. When God is both the source of the signal and the person who receives some information signal, then for him the signal is not divided. Therefore, the monolithic nature of the world, that is, the essence of any object – it is, in fact, eternal, it is infinitely strong. From the point of view of logic, there are some possible problems for the earth, for example, from asteroids and the like.
similar, including internal problems of the development of civilization.

In fact, the original eternity on the spiritual level is such that it is practically impossible to change it in any significant way, not to mention a radical change, that is, such as taking a planet out of orbit and the like. There will always be phenomena, events that will prevent this. Because it is the eternity determined by two people and the Creator himself - God, the Creator of the world, that is already unambiguously interpreted as unchangeable, unchangeable eternity.

Based on this, it is possible to quite clearly determine that then one person can create an impulse, in the same way as God does, and also receive it back. Consequently, the thought of eternal development, that there will be no end to life - this is the thought that returns to the person himself and creates his real thinking, related to eternal life and eternal development.

And then people will see the light of eternity that fills these eyes with the ability of their eyes, their eyelashes will be such that in all corners of the world, in all reality, the light passing through these eyelashes will be visible, and the images of the world entering these eyes, the images of the eternal world. Everyone will feel with their own eyes the eternity that fills them, and they will be able to enter reality so deeply that they will not be identified in this reality, they will be the reality of eternity itself. And this is the message that will come to their heart, and their heart will become eternal and their blood will become eternal.

And when he sees himself in this reality, he will understand that he is eternal, because he thinks so, and this is the most important thing - the eternity of thinking. Because a single thought that has arisen in a person never disappears anywhere. This is already that pillar, that level of the foundations of personality, where thinking is always with him and a person in his soul never forgets what he once thought about.

This is the structure of eternity on which the entire external world in relation to man is based. The certainty that the external world exists from his thinking is very important from the point of view of transforming this world into eternity. For eternity itself, which permeates the external world, is what he identifies with himself.

From this we see that the penetration of his thought into the very depths of the essence of his consciousness is what he perceives in relation to himself and in relation to everyone. And this movement is that ray of the sun, the inner sun, which illuminates his movements in all reality, and he becomes himself, as if he knew everything, that is, an all-knowing person.

Based on this reality of the all-knowing man, we see that the path to all attainability opens. We see that this path consists of the light of reality and the light invented by thinking. The light of reality combines with the light of thinking, giving birth to objects and time, giving birth to the biological course of events, and the essence of living matter begins to react as a structure of consciousness. Such a combination of the light of the internal reality of man, to which thinking also belongs, with the light of external reality, leading to the creation of matter, guarantees the absence of the end of the world. It also guarantees on the basis that the light of one's own thought is not subject to external influence, since any event only saturates the thought, that is, makes it even more luminous, capable of creating even more matter in addition to the existing one.

From here we can obtain proof that the processes of eternity in the location of a person always increase. This means that the end of the world is not possible due to objective processes in the world, occurring in accordance with the laws of development.

Look at the life of an organism as the life of a form of consciousness, and you will see that this is a form that develops infinitely with a fixed geometric shape of the human body. The soul makes the glow from the body infinite. Having considered this, a person begins to see the direct connection of his organism with the eternal external world. Here arises the reality that personifies the fact that the person himself, touching any objects of the external world, for example, stroking a flower with his hand, acquires the eternity that is initially in the entire environment. He understands that the infinity and eternity of the external world exists, including himself. As soon as a person already understands this, that is, this point of thinking is triggered in a specific, often everyday action, then the person becomes himself eternal in any reality, including in everyday life, in thinking, in perspective, strategic, and so on.

From here it is clear that the very movement of man into eternity is his personal path, which is simultaneously recognized as the path of man's duty. Duty to his own essence, to God, to move in eternal development. This duty allows aligning the structures of consciousness at the level of current logic, to be aware of what is happening in civilization as a whole. Accordingly, to accurately respond to the phenomena occurring.

And thus, balancing between external information systems that are connected with consciousness, which somehow intersect at the level of consciousness, the task of duty is precisely in eternal development – to achieve integrity in all aspects of a person’s personal development.

Starting from the essence of the eternal development of each person and consistently defining additional levels, such as the duty of eternal development, such as the focus on eternal development, thinking in the direction of eternal development, etc. Based on this, one can fully understand that wherever a person is realized, he has eternal development everywhere. This is his movement towards eternity, which is already unshakable even because everything that comes from man and from God is all eternal, therefore they are eternal too.

Based on this level, it is possible to determine the eternity of God's life only by this factor, therefore, it is possible to determine the eternal life of man by this same factor, by similarity. From the intersection of these systems, we can move on to the letter principle of the realization of eternity, excluding any end of the world. For example, moving on to the letter "X", we consider in this case two lines of God and man, which intersected in the center of these two segments of light. When considering this letter as light, we see that in each letter there is such an intersection. For example, in the letter "O" we can consider the upper part of the semicircle as an element of God's light, and the lower part as a man, the surrounding world. And if we consider all letters according to a similar principle, we see that in the letter system of expression, that is, in a word, in sound
There is no information end to the interaction of two elements in systems.

Often it is enough to simply know about it, so that it is fixed. The level of knowledge that fixes the eternal reality by the will of man, an effective method of management. The tool that man uses for his life, it is initially eternal. Therefore, life itself, it does not provide for any end. And the sound form, which is expressed, for example, in the symbols of letters, it is intersected with the task and with the reality of eternal development, and such a reality that it is already provided at the eternal level of life of each person who recognizes and moves in this direction.

Sound is what is reproduced, for example, by the person himself, when we see a person speaking, a person singing, in a word, a person who consciously reproduces a certain system of sound, logically connected. It is clear that the word coincides with the sound not only in the form of the perception of the word, consisting of sounds, but also in the part where the sound intersects with the word in an infinite distribution.

That is, the light corresponding to the sound, having an infinite distribution, since it is the light of the person himself that connects with the word, and the word acquires infinite forms and infinite consequences, and distribution, which are initially very local. For example, just a word, written in the form of letters the word "s", "l", "o", "v", "o", here will be completely local in perception, on a sheet of paper, but it will be infinite in this understanding, which is now said. The intersection of the word with the sound, infinitely coming from the person himself in his actions creates a new eternal reality.

From the point of view of the intellectual component, the original level of creation, words are the intellectual activity of a person who invented letters and thus expressed a word. Consequently, based on previous generations, where there is also the action of human intellect, the system of eternity is manifested at the level of information links. The perception of any external object of information and its understanding by a person is also an action of the person himself. Consequently, eternity itself in a dynamic understanding comes from a person, and any perception is already the eternity of the person himself. For in the very essence of the perception of all phenomena of the world and in the recognition of these phenomena there is a law of eternal development, which cannot be bypassed. Which, in essence, is inviolable from the point of view of any influence on this law. It is unchangeable in the collective, in the public understanding from the point of view of its eternal implementation.

In this regard, based on these structures of thinking, which say that all eternity, in essence, is the criterion of the world and the basis of the world, it is absolutely clear that there will be no end of the world, either in the physical or spiritual plane. And, considering the level when we are talking about the end precisely from the point of view of the life of some specific person, then here we must understand that this is precisely what cannot be allowed into consciousness, because the generalized system reacts in such a way that as soon as we exclude the concept of the death of one person and learn to find mechanisms to prevent the death of each specific person, then external reality will automatically exclude such conceptual systems of events, symbolic forms that relate to the concept of the end of the world.

Therefore, one of the systemic factors of the exclusion of these concepts, the global threat to humanity as a whole, is the clear adherence to the exclusion of death for each individual as a whole, as well as for all of humanity. Here the mechanism of resurrection is realized in the plan of eternal development, while the living must build the system in such a way that there is no dying of the living.

And as soon as this element is widely disseminated, it will be quite clearly that any information systems that manifest themselves in the direction of the end of the world, that is, any cataclysms, they, generally speaking, even at the logical phase will no longer arise, because the controllability of the external and internal worlds will be completely unambiguous, built on love. And all this will be united in terms of specific technical goals for the development of society and each person, civilization, worlds, and so on. Therefore, participation in certain educational processes that would communicate this is also important here , so that people are oriented toward endless creation, based on the knowledge of the level of eternal development that initially exists in them.

Because basically, first of all, it is consciousness that forms external reality – both of a person and of people in general. When consciousness becomes active, when the spirit and soul of a person become so united by consciousness on the task of the usual level of eternal development, eternal life, then a very simple educational element arises here, aimed at other people simply knowing, realizing, accepting and disseminating this side of life – eternal life in this case.

When you will tell others about this, then others will be able to build an informational, real, practical basis for their eternal development and a certain platform for eternal development. Then your further action will be even more systematic, more strengthened and the concept of systematicity in eternal development is, first of all, the achievement of eternal life - both by each individual person and by humanity as a whole, therefore, based on this task and this practice and this level of life, it is quite obvious that you come to eternity because this is also the action of other people.

But at the same time, your action is unshakable already because you move further along the level of eternal development. Based on this life practice, we can say that the more you see real results of eternal development and eternal life from the point of view of ensuring eternal life by each specific person who has mastered, is mastering the technique of eternal development, the more stable is your eternity, given that it is initially unshakable by its nature.
It is desirable to develop a mass, everyday understanding of this issue, when eternity is generally accessible and generally acceptable and, in essence, an everyday phenomenon in life.

Based on this level, it is quite possible to consider that the knowledge that is transferred to other people is precisely the systemic eternity: knowledge about eternal development, about eternal life. The main structure of the system is precisely in the broadest, most concentrated, more understandable, more precise level of transfer of this knowledge. When you think over the moments of transfer of knowledge, try to think concentratedly, periodically implementing or constantly, if possible, implementing the system of transfer of such knowledge about the eternal level of life, about eternal life, about eternal development.

You will see that the transfer of knowledge itself, the effects themselves are positive from this transfer. For example, tissue restoration, some systems of event management that other people tell you about - this is what provides you with a certain level of accuracy of your position at the level of consciousness. Because the ability to restore, normalize your own or other tissue through consciousness, the ability to influence events in a certain way in terms of eternal development, so that something happens there that corresponds to eternal development - this provides you with current guarantees of eternal development at the level of your further actions.

When your actions are systemic and many people are engaged in this and at the same time it is clear that a macro-catastrophe is impossible due to internal problems of civilization or external problems of the world, physical for example, then a very special area of knowledge and development arises here, which is in the future, and it has a very significant serious speed of information exchange. Like if we consider SMS and the number of messages on the Internet that go through, then if we combine them at the level of words, then there will be a lot of words, but if we combine them at the level of electronic signals, then this number of signals will be correspondingly less in terms of volume, for example, described in words by these signals. However, the carrier of information signals and the information itself, they are united. If we try to use such a structure of the world in the implementation of the knowledge of eternal development, then here in addition to physical areas, such as the Internet, and this type of information systems, there is also a spiritual level of concentrated similar management.

The connection on a spiritual level, on the level of the soul, of the knowledge that you and others have in the implementation of eternal development, with what we bring to the structure of eternal development some of our own data, will allow us to influence reality.

Radically influence physical reality in such a way that those structures will become available practically at the level of the logic of events, at the level of certain laws of development of society, which will not allow people to die. The very development of man, allowing one to be convinced of the possibility of full influence on the world for creative purposes, asserts the absence of the end of the world.

That is, the combination of events and properties of the physical world will develop in such a way that it will manifest itself not just at the level of the goal and fulfillment. For example, the goal of the manager towards eternal development to standardize any situations and the management itself - this will already be the norm of eternal life itself, where exchange and information processes are very large. It is also necessary to try to implement, to create a world in which damage to health is impossible, the termination of human life is impossible.

Such a world is distinguished by certain properties in terms of the spread of these phenomena to everyone as a law, which is practically implemented in any case. It is impossible to bypass or somehow change this law, because the society itself established it with its collective consciousness, and it operates in the same way as physical laws, physical reality.

This socialized law of combination with the law of internal development, the laws of the external world - this is that practically exact state, which allows not only to be sure that there will be no end of the world, but also to be sure of it for an infinite time. Here the very essence of man, which completely controls reality, the self-awareness of man, that this is really happening at the level of precise arguments, convincing facts and at the level of planned systemic development of society and man, will allow practically to exclude information of such type as the end of the world, as any termination of human life under any pretext.

This exception will allow the realization of the structure of eternal development, united by man himself, the outside world, society, and God. The entire system of this development will be directed only at eternal life, at eternal development, and this already exists now.

Because a person who will be developed in this way, and society as a whole, they are now no different from those people who will own this. Therefore, proceeding from the primary essence in the likeness of the Creator, you can act in the same way as God acts, as another acts, who knows how to develop eternally, live eternally, and how this is reflected in all external reality, where you can independently learn all the laws of eternal development, proceeding from such a goal in contact with the external world. When you contact the external world in this goal, then this knowledge also comes to you.

Therefore, daily focus in this direction gives you constant knowledge. You improve significantly faster than one can somehow logically assume. And then at a certain level, although often at the level of consciousness no sharp movements are considered, since consciousness considers eternal development as the norm, you can see that at some point the element of eternity is so realized in you that you definitely live forever according to certain internal structures of awareness of some events, some possible past events, some of your actions that led to certain results.
This is already personal control, a personal state that brings a certain pleasure, a certain positive perception of the fact that those around you and you live forever.

It turns out that based on this construction of your state, you will not only be sure that there will be no end of the world. But with this state, this unique attitude, where there is real power, that is, an attitude built on the exact knowledge of future events, you can immediately prevent any destructive events in any system. And by this you can establish not only the eternity of yourself, but also the eternity of the whole world, of everyone around you at the same time. When you achieve such harmony, and it is often not difficult to achieve, you literally just have to tune in to it - you already have it. There is such a spiritual state and that's it. It is absolutely obvious that the world is indestructible, that you can communicate this to others and have this knowledge that can allow you to convey this and at the level of ordinary action, no different from the everyday state of affairs.

It is quite possible to quickly transmit precisely this confidence, this system of precise knowledge. And then, as a result of your action, nothing destructive will happen in any case.

Thus, by combining the system of understanding, the system of action, the system of simply being initially realized as a personality, as a person who lives forever, by combining all possible phenomena in this direction, you quite obviously achieve eternal life without any end of the world or, generally speaking, any negative elements that could harm health or life. Therefore, here a pure, competently constructed in this sense of goal-oriented management path of yours arises, which is completely under your control and which is completely stable, because it already initially exists - this is the truth of this world, which came initially with you, initially with the action of God, and the whole world as a whole. This path is unchangeable, and you can develop and live forever quite calmly.
