Teachings on Salvation and Harmonious Development Technologies of Reality Control at the Creator's level Control from the surface layer of the skin (06)

In this lecture again on my system of salvation and harmonious development I'm showing you what it means to control what happens if you start it from a level near the surface of the skin more specific

So in this case the human model is treated as an optical system which works in the following way that light that enters ninety-five percent of the time goes in and the person inside looks as a system of inter-reflected optical signals and the skin the surface of the skin inside it's mirrored

then it turns out that through multiple reflections we end up with that the maximum number of intersections on the event series on the mutual influence series in the optical system are the human organs so when the light five percent for example goes out ninety-five percent stays in we can get control from the near-surface layer that's near the human skin on the same principle as the Creator does

The Creator creates all of Reality from any point hence the surface layer participates both in the creation of internal systems like human organs and in the creation of external systems like external Reality

the task is actually very simple at a point of concentration like the surface layer to isolate two vectors i.e. the vector going into the skin and entering the body as the external environment and a vector that works as a reflected wave from a rigid fixed point near the surface of the skin

Why I've taken it not on the skin but near the surface like a millimeter there or a centimeter even but to create a transitional area between an element of a possible external Reality on the side from the body and to the skin

i.e. the point is more in the equilibrium phase if it were lying on the skin it would belong to one system like a person

So there's another principle to create stable areas by creating intermediate areas

So that's the Creator That's how he makes Reality by creating any intermediate Reality as a system that is simultaneously central in its properties

I mean for example we can in principle consider some physical process of an external Reality and set for example the problem that what should be the Laws in a vacuum for there to be for example gravity on the Earth yes or in water to get the force of gravity for example in another galaxy

In such a problem statement we are describing a central process For example there the force of gravity at the expense of intermediate regions i.e. the intermediate region must contain the technology of the whole external or descriptive area or autonomous area that the Creator has allocated let's say

From this principle we see the principle of discrete unpacking of Consciousness i.e. once we set the problem like this from one point to find a two-vector nature we get immediate control both in the infinite area from the skin and inside what's underneath the skin because the skin is like an inherent Reality which is near this point

As an independent work find the transition from the point to the skin from the point of view of the internal organs like the optics of the internal systems and here's part of the lecture that I don't define as complete try to finish this lecture on your own in terms of control coming from this point into the external environment and into the internal environment i.e. how Consciousness is unpacked with what kind of access technology as a kind of access vector to this point so that control can be accomplished simultaneously both internally and externally as well an autonomous work of its own and as a kind of actual system of this kind I can say that here you get real control at any vector of access to this point but when you find inside this point at the same time a state of the Spirit there and Soul and physical matter and the realm of events then you see how this point is built by the Creator so you try to get from this area as a kind of maximum concentration of information to approach

I'm making this lecture open on purpose i.e. you have to finish it on your own and by the next time I'll give five more telepathic lectures each day you will present it in your own way or maybe generalized however you want so it's a lecture like this that everyone builds their own management from the beginning of the actual lecture which basically includes actually the whole lecture even the end depending on how you look at it but still everyone by virtue the way the lecture material is structured something will be different and something will be like the same just like everybody else
